DETAILED ACTION

This action is in response to the applicant's communication filed on 6/22/2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-6, 8- 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Eisert et al (US 6,730,939).

Eisert et al teaches a radiation-emitting semiconductor component comprising: epitaxial multilayer structure including active layer for generating radiation in multilayer structure, electrical contacts connected to said active layer, radiation transmissive window "20" with first main surface and adjoining multilayer structure and second main surface opposite said first main surface and second main surface having at least one void selected from the group consisting of a trench recess and a pit recess formed therein for increasing coupling out of radiation from said window, wherein window have side surface "20 a, 20b" and having partial regions perpendicular and orthogonal to first and second main surfaces respectively; and said window has an enveloping basic shape selected from the group consisting of parallelized or cuboid shapes; void has at least one planar side surface enclosing an angle different from 90 degrees with second main surface, wherein void is a trench recess formed with triangular or trapezoidal cross section tapering towards the first surface (see fig. 1a, 1b, 1c, 3 a and related description). Eisert et al teaches window contains silicon carbide material and multilayer structure is GaN based compound with elements comprising Al, In and or Ga, wherein window material layer higher refractive index than that of multi layer structure (see col.9, lines 35-46). Eisert et al teaches void is bounded by at least one curved surface and void has cone shape (see 8-11). Eisert et al teaches wafer bonding or epiaxial growth (see col.2, lines 4-13). Eisert et al teaches sawing technique to form trench recess by saw blade "80" having trapezoidal cross section (see col. 14, lines 52-67, and col. 15, lines 1-20). Eisert et al teaches etching the recess (see col. 11, lines 5-8).

Claim 7,26 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

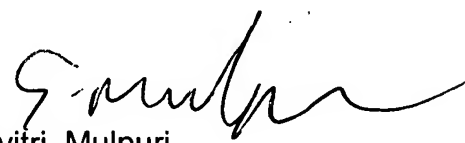

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-26 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
